Standards: 9.1 A, B, C, E, I, J, K | Objectives: 1. Apply the elements and principles of design. 2. List the principles of graphic design. 3. Compare and contrast the elements and principles of design to the principles of graphic design. 4. Select and manipulate typography to convey a specific meaning or message. 5. Appropriately use all tools and technology when creating a graphic work of art. 6. Create a product portfolio for an imaginary client. 7. Create and maintain their own graphic design website. | 1. Create a "pitch" to present the product portfolio to a panel of clients. Clients will provide feedback to the designer using a rubric. | Concepts (Know): - Graphic art is an art form that combines images, words, and ideas to communicate a message. - Know that graphic art principles include proximity, alignment, contrast, repetition, and white space. - Graphic artists learn, study, refine, and practice both technological skills as well as drafting skills. - Graphic artists rely heavily on mastery of the elements and principles of design. - Typography (size, color, and style of lettering) can be selected and manipulated to convey a specific meaning. Competencies (Do): - Learn, study, refine, and practice the use of traditional and nontraditional tools to solve graphic problems. - Apply current technology and elements and principles of design to investigate, create, communicate, and produce graphic works of art. - Explore and experiment with a variety of technology tools to achieve a desired effect. - Maintain and appropriately store all tools and materials. - Design and maintain a product portfolio. | Essential Vocabulary: - Graphic Art - Elements of Design - Principles of Design - Principles of Graphic Design - Contrast - Alignment - Proximity - Repetition - White Space - Typography - Product Portfolio - Letterhead | Learning Task: The students will be encouraged to select a topic of interest, create an imaginary client for the topic, and a product portfolio for the client. Essential Question: How does effective graphic design influence the consumer?

Standards: 9.1 A, C, E, J,K | Objective(s) | 1. When presented with a product portfolio, students will be able to determine which images are original and which ones may be governed by copyright law. | Concepts (Know): • Copyright is defined as having the exclusive right to control reproduction and commercial exploitation of your work. • It is mandatory to properly cite borrowed graphics that you use to avoid any potential legal trouble. • The difference between copyrighting and trademarking. • Copyrighting is defined as having the exclusive rights to control reproduction of your work. • Trademarking is a way to identify a distinguished name or symbol. • Graphic artists access their own experiences and strengths to create graphic imagery. • It is permissible to intentionally borrow, copy, or alter a preexisting image. | • Copyright • Trademark • Citation • Graphic Imagery • Appropriate | Learning Task: The students will be encouraged to select a topic of interest, create an imaginary client for the topic, and a product portfolio for the client. The students will use original graphic elements as well as images appropriated from another source while obeying guidelines for copyright and appropriating. | Essential Question: Under what conditions does an artist relinquish their right to their work? (example: Instagram/social media/Facebook Artist Steal’s Instagram Photos to Sell)

<td>Select three individuals (a peer, a relative, an adult). The student will present their design to the individuals and get consumer feedback on their design choices and then have the chance to revise their design based on the feedback. The student will then survey the same audience to see if their reactions and feedback differ. Determine whether their opinions have changed or stayed the same,</td>
<td>Concepts (Know): • Know that graphic artists are adept at utilizing imagery to provoke, persuade, inform, or challenge the status quo. Competencies (Do): • Apply elements and principles of design that convey a specific message, feeling, or tone in a product or product line. • Apply principles of graphic design to convey a specific message, feeling, or tone in a product or product line.</td>
<td>• Provoke • Persuade • Consumer feedback</td>
<td>Learning Task: Students will select a product or brand and analyze how the design choices influence or are influenced by a target audience. (Ex. Cereal box design for small children with a character, toy inside, Yoga pant trend for high end designer Is Activewear the new Denim?) Research and discuss logo designs that have changed over time and people’s reaction to them. For example, Tropicana Orange Juice Essential Question: How do consumers influence the artist choices that graphic designers make? What is the responsibility of the consumer to identify ways in which their choices are being influenced by graphic designers?</td>

Standards: 9.3 B, C, E, F | Objectives: 1. Practice formal, intuitive and contextual criticism. 2. Use appropriate vocabulary when critiquing works of art. 3. Compare and contrast various works of art using formal, intuitive, and contextual criticism. 4. Form judgments about the quality of various works of art and support your rationale. | 1. Select two book jackets for the same book and compare and contrast which one is more effective. Students will also identify whether their rationale is based on formal, intuitive or contextual criticism. | Concepts (Know): • People use specific vocabulary that references the elements and principles of art when articulating their thoughts and defending their position. • People can engage in formal criticism. • People can engage in intuitive criticism. • People can engage in contextual criticism. | Competencies (Do): • Use formal, intuitive and contextual criticism to compare and contrast various works of art to judge quality. • Form judgments about the quality of various crafts and support your rationale. | • Criticism: • Formal • Intuitive • Contextual • Compare and Contrast • Judgment • Form Judgment • Rationale | Learning Task: Teacher will present an example of a book jacket which has changed over time. Students will be encouraged to speculate why it was changed, form an opinion about whether it is effective or not and develop rationale supporting their opinion. (Harry Potter around the world http://hardcoversandheroines.com/2014/03/12/wordless-wednesday-harry-potter-covers-from-around-the-world/) Essential Question: How does a vocabulary of critical analysis inform judgement about quality?

Title: Graphic Design

Where do we see art in everyday life? How do design, advertising, and packaging influence what we do and buy today? Graphic design combines images, words, and ideas, to communicate messages to an audience. Learn to develop solutions to real world problems and combine creative thinking with a wide range of skills using traditional and contemporary tools. This is a beginning level course that will focus on creative problem solving while exploring current technology, such as Adobe Photoshop, Illustrator, and/or InDesign.

1 Semester / Prerequisite: Creativity and Innovation (or Visual Art 1)
